Soraker, Sweden (August. 29, 2008) - New lower price puts these eBook templates in the hands of more eBook publishers all over the world.

Starting on the first of August the Pro eBook Templates package vol. 1 was presented to the public. Kenth Nasstrom, the owner, tells us that the response from publishers in a number of countries around the world has been positive.

Kenth further explains, "The only negative comments he's heard are that some of the eBook publishers, especially those starting up or with tight budgets, found the package a bit too pricey. To make things easier for all of them the price now has been lowered over 55%. There will be some added bonuses as well to further enhance the value of the package and will make getting one a really easy decision to make."

He continues to tell us that those customers that already have purchased the package will be contacted to receive added products as an unannounced bonus.

Former tests did show that using templates from this package would allow writers to produce an eBook with a good layout and distribute it as a pdf file in 30-60 minutes, if he/she has the text prewritten and spell checked.

According to new customers, this time may even be shorter in some cases!

Welcome to the site and leave your name and email to get download information for an eBook created with one of the templates in the package. You'll get a direct download and can see for yourself how one of the templates actually looks when used to create an eBook.
